Description:

- UHP Series Gas Ovens are designed with the newest technology in the world by all our engineers together. In contrast with the same kinds of products in the market, UHP Series Gas Ovens have the unexpected advantage. They adopted the European-style outer design, beautiful and good looking; have touch control of time and temperature programs, open-and-shut and easy to operate; set more steamer, can start to steam operate; use the forced blast-burning mode, economical combustion; be possessed of automatic warning system of gas-off, unexpected flame-out auto-protection device, technology advanced, safe and reliable; light striking system and the electric control elements are all good quality, guaranteed; overheating protection makes the machines more safety; burning chamber with refractory stainless steel tubes, resistant and durable; the lowest cost is much lower than the electric oven, too far behind to catch up; at last but not least, transparent-checking window with lighting inside, more convenient to inspect. Therefore, it is the best choice for restaurants, hotels, confectionary factories and bakeries.
